Bayerische Motoren Werke AG (BMW) is a German automobile manufacturer founded in 1917. The company was a merger of two companies producing aircraft engines, Rapp Motoren Werke and Gustav Flugmaschnefabrik. They formed Bayerische Flugzeugwerke who changed his name a year later to Bayerische Motoren Werke AG. In 1923 BMW introduced its first motorcycle, the R 32. In 1928 BMW acquired the Eisenbach automobile factory. Eisenbach was producing British Austin Seven under license and was selling the vehicle under the name "Dixi 3/15 PS". BMW changed the name to "BMW Dixi 3/15 DA-1". The range grew and the 328 sports car was introduced in 1936, a two-seat sports car with an aluminum body and a six 2.0-litre direct motor. During World War II BMW produced aircraft and motorcycle engines. After the war, the production of automobiles and motorcycles was restarted in 1948 in Bavaria with the Isetta, an Italian microcar designed under license, being the main product. After a difficult period for the company with attempts by the British Rootes Group, Humber and Sunbeam manufacturers among other brands, and also American Motors to take over the company, German investors increased their actions strongly in BMW. The 700, a small car with a 700cc engine, was released in 1959. The BMW 1500, a compact car that developed in the BMW 2000, was introduced in 1962. The model was in production until 1976. Larger vehicles with six straight cylinder engines were introduced in 1968, Series 5 in 1972 and Series 3 in 1975. BMW bought the British Rover Group in 1994. The development of the X5 started at the same time and BMW were able to use Land Rover technology for this vehicle. BMW kept the Mini and Triumph brands, but sold Rover and Land Rover, the last to the Ford Motor Company in 2000. The Rolls-Royce brand was achired in 1998. 63,193 KM. Auto.
